The Darkest Minds: Never Fade (Book 1).Q: How do you do log parsing of a Tridion Workflow? I am working on a Tridion workflow in which I need to perform some actions (Save, etc.) at the end of a workflow. My understanding is that the workflow involves a bit of interaction with both Tridion Core and Tridion Workflow (as the workflow is running in the background). From the Tridion Workflow code I can find the current workflow flow, e.g. public string GetFlow() { WorkflowContext context = WorkflowContext.GetCurrent(); return context.WorkflowState.Flow; } I can find the current step of the workflow by navigating to the workflow with a link like this: workflow/DefaultWorkflow.aspx?workflowName=myscheme However, I need to find the next step that the workflow will take next (and execute a logic that will save the current state of the workflow). Is there a way to do this? A: Tridion Core Workflows support logging events. You can use this to log the workflow events of the step that is about to be run.
